In today's world you need a modern working environment, which allows your teams to cooperate wherever their members are currently located. In addition, global collaborations with clients and partners have become more important. As the trend towards flexible working conditions has become more and more important, it is crucial to offer places where people can become creative and exchange ideas regularly.

With vertical[®] conference we provide an innovative platform with the potential to disrupt the classical conference setting. Indeed, as we connect people audiovisually, enable the mutual editing of documents, and the integration of multi-media content, we create a completely different and new meeting experience.

vertical® Conference

Independent from your current technology, vertical's® conference solution allows you to plan, manage, and conduct meetings. We provide you with a ready-to-use solution, which needs solely to be connected with the internet. Start creating virtual conferences and invite participants to all settings. Thereby, each conference room is an independent participant and can thus act itself as an organizer in a meeting. After having logged in with your credentials, a web-based planning program allows you to set up a meeting. Besides setting up new meetings, you can also change existing meetings and send invitations with your e-mail program. Additionally, you can also start ad hoc meetings in each conference room. Each room has its own display, which shows the time at which the room is occupied and the person who set up this meeting.

Thanks to the user-friendly modular smart hub, you can use vertical® conference without any additional hardware.

Our Tip:
In combination with vertical® mail, your calendar will notify you about possible free slots as it recognizes each room's schedule.

The intuitive video- and telephone conference solution is readily scalable to your personal needs, no matter whether you use smaller huddle rooms or bigger meeting and conference rooms (6-20 participants). You can flexibly equip your rooms with our basic solution and add extension at any point of time.

Meeting Rooms

vertical® meeting rooms are an ideal option for medium-sized meeting rooms for 6-20 participants.

The small IP conference phone in connection with a HD camera is a comprehensive audio, video, and content-sharing solution and perfect for a collaboration in groups. You can connect your devices via cable or in a wireless way and share all your content in real time with your colleagues or clients.
